

This low fi prototype demonstrates the basic features of my shopping cart page. Aside from cart product information and order summary, I decide to show recommendations to the user if their cart is empty.

The main challenge of my high fidelity prototype is to keep a consistent aesthetic with other pages on the web store.